

ABSTRACT

Delays associated with anti-jamming systems utilized in GPS systems can be determined to reduce pseudo range errors. The pseudo range errors are corrected so that proper ionospheric corrections can be made. An extrapolation
5 method can be utilized to improve ionospheric corrections.